

C. P. CARY HITS HARD AT FOES ON SCHOOL BOARD

State Superintendent of Education Is Speaker at C. of C. Forum.

WOULD KEEP OUT POLITICS

Reorganization of State School System Will Make It Political Toy.

Appleton's high school problem should be solved by erecting two junior high schools, C. P. Cary, Madison, state superintendent of public instruction, told members of the chamber of commerce at the monthly forum banquet Monday evening in Northwestern hotel. He also said Appleton's school system was peculiar and that best results could be obtained by having one board and no more.

Speaking for only a few moments on the Appleton situation, the mentor turned to a discussion of the controversy in the legislature to abolish some of the educational boards. He explained the difference between the state board of public instruction and the state board of education. The latter body was organized about six years ago with the evident aim of crushing the former and placing control of education in the hands of the governor, he said.

Mr. Cary showed that the state board of education had no definite function to start with, and only became occupied with duties after some had been manufactured for it, and others taken from existing boards and officers. Removal of this board, he said, would make no more difference than sticking a finger in a pall of water and removing it. The water would be there with no hole.

Afraid of Politics

Believing there was a subtle movement to make the state superintendent appointive by the governor, the speaker expressed the opinion that those vested with the school administration of the state would lean toward the governor rather than toward educational welfare. It would be impossible to keep the educational system out of politics as at present. Any change should be in the direction of a state board of public instruction elected by the people.

Mr. Cary intimated that there might be a desire to remove a constitutional official, meaning himself, but that this should be done openly by an amendment to the constitution and not through trickery.

One Board Enough

Two bills before the legislature were discussed by the speaker, one to abolish the state board of education and the other to abolish the state board of vocational education, two bodies which have confused the educational system and caused an overlapping of authority and administration. He believed the best solution of the matter was to go back to the one board of public instruction and let each kind of school have its own board such as the board of regents for normal schools. This would provide a simple system of administration with no question of control or authority. A number of teachers of the high school and several members of the board of education were present as guests. Gustave Keller, forum chairman presided, and community singing was led by Daniel P. Steinberg. There was an attendance close to one hundred.

Lothar G. Graef, vice president of the chamber, presided at a short business session at which O. P. Schaefer, Frank McGowan, George H. Packard, A. H. Krugmeier and Dr. G. A. Ritchie were elected members of a nominating committee to recommend a list of ten candidates for directors at the annual meeting next month. Other nominees for the committee were John Morgan, F. J. Rooney, A. P. Tuttle, M. J. McDonald and P. A. Kornely. Five directors are to be elected from the list of ten.

Appleton has a good school system, Mr. Cary said, although it reached no great distinction. He said it was only through rare good chance that the six boards worked in harmony, because some places they did not, with the result that the system was "haphazard." Paul A. Cary, a member of the school board, referred to this in the later discussion and explained to the speaker that there were three fundamental boards and that the others were composed of members of these, with a few additions. The harmony was a case of members being in harmony with themselves.

Fills Definite Need

"There is a growing feeling that the junior high school is the coming thing," said the speaker. It is a separate grouping of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades and is recommended by most advanced thinking in the educational world. I sincerely hope you will follow out the junior high school idea here in Appleton."

Mr. Cary went on to explain how the junior high school meets a definite need during a pupil's adolescent years. He then stated that two junior high schools were needed here, because the city was somewhat spread out. There were enough pupils in the specified grades to provide an enrollment of 350 to 400 in each building, making a building of nice size. He urged thorough study of such schools before erecting any buildings, indicating that many now

Washington.—The senate's emergency immigration bill, limiting immigration for 15 months after April 1 to 3 per cent of the nationals of any country now resident in the United States, was accepted Tuesday by house conferees as a substitute for the Johnson bill prohibiting all immigration for a year.

The bill as agreed on in conference will limit immigration from European countries to 354,000 a year. It takes no account of immigration from Canada, Mexico, the Orient or South America.

Exceptions to the general limitations of immigration includes diplomats and foreign government officials, such as consuls, consular agents and their families. These are not counted in computing the 3 per cent. Actors, artists, teachers and other professionals are not figured into the 3 per cent and can gain admission after the maximum has been reached.

WANT MEXICO TO PROMISE IT WILL BE GOOD TO YANKS

Mexican Problem Is Regarded as Most Important in U. S. Foreign Affairs.

Washington.—Concentration on the Mexican question as a problem of paramount importance in America's foreign affairs, will begin immediately after March 1, it was said Tuesday among those who take a leading part in the shaping of President-elect Harding's foreign policy.

With Senator A. B. Fall considered a cabinet certainty and Henry P. Fletcher virtually chosen as under-secretary of state, it is recognized here that Harding has peculiarly emphasized the importance in which he holds American-Mexican relations.

Fall, chairman of the senate committee which investigated Mexican conditions, and Fletcher, former American ambassador to Mexico, are accepted as the men who will be Harding's chief advisers on Mexico.

A move unique in foreign relations, it was learned, already is being considered as a step toward the upholding of American rights in Mexico. This move, according to the present plan, would take the form of an official statement serving notice that unless a government in Mexico, recognized by the United States fully respects American interests, then the American government will guarantee these interests. Such an announcement of policy, it is stated, not only would reassure Americans in Mexico, but would notify the Mexican government that the United States intended to provide adequate protection for its citizens.

Conditions which the Harding administration will ask Mexico to fulfill as preliminary to recognition by this government were stated Tuesday to include the following:

1.—Reimbursement to Americans of damage suffered during the revolution with the appointment of a joint commission to adjust the claims.

2.—The return of all American property seized by the Mexican government or individuals.

3.—An arrangement for the payment of Mexico's foreign debt, most of which is owned in this country.

4.—The repeal, or at least a different interpretation of, confiscatory legislation including the constitutional provision which nationalizes oil.

JAP SLAYER OF U. S. SENYI IS SET FREE

By United Press Leased Wire

Tokio.—The Japanese war office Tuesday issued a statement announcing that the seny, who shot and killed three U. S. sailors, U. S. N. had been found guilty.

The statement said it had been shown the seny had acted in good faith and the shooting was due to lack of training and failure to discharge his duties properly on that account.

General Nishimura, commander of the Vladivostok brigade, was held responsible and has been suspended from his command. Other officers, it was stated, will be duly punished.

SINN FEIN ADDS FUEL TO GOVERNMENT WRATH

London.—Sinn Fein has strengthened the government by weekend raids and its attacks in England. British newspapers asserted Tuesday. They said the impression made in parliament last night when Sir Hamar Greenwood took full advantage of Sinn Fein aggressiveness to make a slashing attack on government critics. Replying particularly to H. H. Asquith, former premier, Greenwood created a sensation by reading documents captured in Saturday raids on republican army headquarters.

The main document dealt with an appropriation of $50,000 pounds for "operations abroad."

Twenty thousand pounds of that money, Greenwood said, was shown to have come from Irish-Americans.

U. S. FOREIGN POLICY WILL BE UP TO HUGHES

Harding Expects to Place Entire Responsibility on Secretary.

NOT BOUND TO ANY GROUP

New Secretary Believes There Is Much Good in the Versailles Treaty.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921)

Washington.—Senator Hiram Johnson, one of the leaders of the so-called "irreconcilable" group which has opposed the ratification of the Paris treaty in any form as well as the entrance of the United States into the present League of Nations, said today that the appointment of Charles Evans Hughes as secretary of state in the Harding cabinet was not at all displeasing to him.

"The appointment of Mr. Hughes," remarked the California senator in a talk with the writer today, "is by no means unsatisfactory to me. I was not one of the group who opposed the appointment. As to international policies, I understand that Mr. Hughes in one of his early talks with Mr. Harding endorsed the tentative policy which Mr. Harding has had in mind for foreign affairs."

"As to Mr. Hughes personally, I know he is an independent, minded man. I liked particularly the way he denounced those Republicans who expelled the socialists from the New York state legislature. I liked also the warm way in which he recently defended the direct primary system which is so much under attack. Acts like these in the face of the Republican bosses show that Mr. Hughes has a mind of his own."

Answers Call

Generally speaking men at the capitol whether they have any personal enthusiasm or not for Mr. Hughes were frank to admit that in accepting the portfolio of secretary of state, Mr. Hughes had again responded to the call of service, for the Republican party and the country. Everybody here knows that Mr. Hughes was reluctant to leave the Supreme court of political campaign and he was of course not anxious to go into the cabinet which in his sense means a resumption of political burdens for on no question is there just now such bitter feeling and sharp division of opinion as on foreign policy.

Entirely apart from Mr. Hughes' exceptional qualifications and prestige, the selection of Mr. Hughes has another significance that may not be immediately apparent but which will be revealed after Mr. Hughes has been in office a short time. Mr. Hughes thinks in straight lines. He will endeavor of course to meet the pledges which the Republican party gave at Chicago but he will work out a foreign policy in his own way.

The fact that Senator Johnson of California is pleased with the selection of Mr. Hughes does not mean that the new secretary of state has said something or is committed to some policy which is pleasing to the irreconcilable group in the senate.

Not Bound Down

On the contrary, an examination of Mr. Hughes' utterances on foreign policy shows that he has maintained a certain flexibility of viewpoint which will come in handy when the many

STARR, NOTED BANDIT, ENDS EARTHLY CAREER

By United Press Leased Wire

Harrison, Ark.—Henry Starr, notorious southern bandit, died Tuesday. His death was the result of a bullet which penetrated his spine. He was shot last week while leading his gang in a bank robbery.

Starr was shot shortly after he gave up his resolution to "go straight" which was made at the time he was paroled from prison in Oklahoma.

Starr said he resumed his bandit career because he was in debt and needed "easy money." He remained silent to the last and refused to name the men who aided him in the attempt to rob the Peoples' National bank.

Former Chief Of Democrats Answers Call

William F. McCombs, Once Democratic Chairman, Dies After Long Illness.

By United Press Leased Wire

Greenwich, Conn.—William F. McCombs, former chairman of the democratic national committee, died Tuesday following a six weeks' illness from heart disease.

McCombs was manager of the national campaign which resulted in the nomination and election of President Wilson in 1912 and national chairman of the party from that year until 1916. He had been in poor health for several months but his illness was not regarded as critical until six weeks ago. His two sisters were with him when he died.

The body was to be taken to New York City late Tuesday, when funeral arrangements were to be made. Born in Hamburg, Ark., in 1875, McCombs studied law at Princeton and Harvard and began practicing in New York in 1901. After his successful management of the 1912 campaign, he was offered the ambassadorship to France but declined it.

TURKEY THROWS DEFIANCE INTO FACE OF ALLIES

Rather Fight to Death Than Compromise, Turkish Leader Declares.

By United Press Leased Wire

London.—Turkey Tuesday voted her defiance to the allies. "We will defend the cradle of the Ottoman race to the last Turk," proclaimed Bekir Samibey, representative of the Turkish nationalists.

The right of survival as a nation or a war to death is the Turkish decision, he declared.

Samibey denied there was an alliance between the nationalists and the Russian soviets.

"Our relations are simply those of friendly nations," he said.

"We are not fools enough to give up a powerful friendship for the intangible benefit of placating the allies."

He declared he will face the allied supreme council with a demand that Turkey be permitted to survive as a nation, "choosing one death in preference to thousands of deaths in the humiliation of foreign rule and economic strangulation."

"The Kemalists are not rebels," Samibey said.

"We are the true government of Turkey, resolved to perish before agreeing to let our country be made a promethee on the rock of the Sevres treaty."

"We will be moderate in our demands on the allies. But the restoration of Smyrna, the evacuation of Broussa and allied withdrawal from Constantinople cannot be compromised."

"Broussa was the cradle of the Ottoman race and we will defend it to the last Turk."

Samibey denied Turkish animosity toward Armenia, asserting a treaty with her is satisfactory to both parties.

MICHIGAN JOINS BADGER FIGHT ON RAIL RATES

By United Press Leased Wire

Lansing, Mich.—An agreement under which Michigan will participate in the Wisconsin railroad rate case before the United States supreme court in an effort to reach a speedy determination of the railroad rate controversy between the interstate commerce commission and the state commission in Michigan and other states, was reached at a conference of state representatives at Washington from which Marvin Wiley, attorney general, returned Monday.

The legal questions involved in the Wisconsin case are the same as those in the fight Michigan is making to prevent the railroads from increasing local rates to three and six-tenths cents a mile basis recently authorized by the federal commission.

U. S. KICKS TO WORLD LEAGUE ON MANDATES

Formal Protest Is Lodged Against Giving Island of Yap to Japanese.

RUSSIA BLOCKS LEAGUE

Soviet War Minister's Wireless Halts Transport of Troops to Vilna.

By Henry Wood

By United Press Leased Wire

Paris.—The United States, in notes received by the league of nations council Tuesday, asked that no action be taken on confirming mandates until she can submit protests now being prepared.

Three United States, it is understood, will object to the awarding of the island of Yap to Japan and of Mesopotamia to Great Britain.

Oil and cable rights are involved in the protest from the United States. Yap is important as a cable landing point. Secretary of State Coghly already has questioned Great Britain regarding her intentions in handling the great oil field in Mesopotamia.

The council adopted publicity rules somewhat similar to those of the league assembly. Open meetings will "opportune."

At other times action of the council will be made public after it has been taken.

An international conference for the suppression of white slavery, will be called to meet in Geneva next June, the council decided.

It was agreed, also, to reaffirm the council's previous decision that the former German provinces of Lauen and Malmoe should be awarded to Belgium.

Half Vilna Plebiscite

The league of nations army is halted by Foreign Minister Tchitcherin. Its bolshevik wireless.

The army was assigned to go to Vilna and supervise the plebiscite there to determine whether the city shall be Polish or Lithuanian. A Polish army holds the city which is the capital of Lithuania.

The bolsheviks want to keep the league of nations from sending an army to supervise the plebiscite on the ground such action would be virtual intervention in favor of Poland.

Spanish, British, Belgian and French troops comprising the league army, first tried to get to Vilna through Switzerland. Tchitcherin wireless ordered to Swiss radicals who brought pressure on the government and forced it to ease the army passage through the country.

The troops then tried to pass through Italy.

Again the Moscow wireless sent orders. After the radicals had acted the government reported to the league that it would not be allowed to send the army through Italy. Italian railway workers are among the most radical in the country, the government said and there might be trouble if the soldiers used the rails there.

Allies are Fooled

It developed Tuesday that Tchitcherin has proceeded in other countries in the same fashion. Rumania, Austria and Czech-Slovakia in turn were compelled through the threats of their radicals to turn the league army back.

The league of nations council may decide on action this week to compel member countries to give its troops passage. The Vilna plebiscite originally was set for March but probably will be delayed several months as a result of the Tchitcherin wireless campaign.

Delegates to the league council, highly annoyed at the interference, admitted Russia was holding them back. They declared they had no way of settling the matter now.

WILL CLOSE SPIGOT ON STATE TREASURY

By United Press Leased Wire

Madison.—The legislature took a day "off" Tuesday in order to pay homage to the memory of George Washington. Most members took advantage of the respite to visit their homes and consult constituents about pending legislation.

Those remaining here will listen to an address on Washington by Gov. John J. Blaine tonight in the assembly chamber.

All members are expected back on Thursday when the Matheson prohibition enforcement bill comes up for consideration. The final disposition of the wet and dry legislation is expected to end the "marking time" period and the legislators will get down to actual work.

Emergency appropriation bills will follow the reading of the governor's financial and educational message on March 1. Some large deficits in departments and institutions are expected to incite "tight wad" solons to drastic action. Any official action by the legislature is likely to be guided by recommendations made by the governor.

Members say, however, that in some manner notice will be served on department heads that overdrawn appropriations will not be tolerated in the future.

HINGES ON HELP FOR OIL INDUSTRY

Petroleum Magnates Want Equal Chance in Development of Oil Fields.

By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—The principle underlying the world oil situation is whether national power shall be sustained on land and sea by the acquisition and control of oil at home and abroad, according to U. S. Welch, general secretary and counsel of the American Petroleum Institute.

This statement is contained in Welch's forthcoming report, a section of which was made public Tuesday.

Welch declares that this phase is a "larger issue than the interest of any or all of the American or foreign companies engaged in the business."

He quotes Thomas A. O'Donnell, president of the institute as follows: "The American oil industry asks only the support of the nation in giving it an equal status, putting it up on an equal footing with the national oil of other countries in the development of the world's petroleum resources—and it asks this in the interest of the nation."

Welch reports the findings of American delegates to the international chamber of commerce in Paris as follows:

"The consumption of petroleum throughout the world is exceeding production."

"The world is confronted with a serious shortage in the near future unless energetic efforts are made to increase production."

"Sufficient undiscovered petroleum deposits exist to supply present and future requirements."

"Curtalement of exploration and production is being caused by restrictive laws and regulations of many governments."

"Free opportunity to all nations to explore and develop the petroleum resources of the world should be freely extended."

The judge planned to place a special representative of his court in each of the 29 polling places.

The fight for ward committeemen last April was featured by kidnappings and shooting affairs.

RAILROADS DENIED RIGHT TO CUT WAGES

Railroad Labor Board Rules Against Action of Southern Line.

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago.—Railroad employers of the nation Tuesday had lost their test case before the United States railroad labor board for immediate reduction in wages of employees.

The board in a decision rendered to the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad in effect said:

"The fact that a railroad cannot pay the wages fixed by the labor board does not empower it to notify its employees that wages are to be cut; the road must first prove that the wages are not 'just and reasonable.'"

The A. B. and A. railroad case follows:

The road posted notices seven weeks ago that wages were to be cut. Employees appealed to the labor board and the board decided in favor of employees.

It has been generally reported that railroads all over the country had intended to post wage reduction notices in case the A. B. and A. had won.

GRAND JURY BEGINS MOONEY TRIAL PROBE

By United Press Leased Wire

San Francisco.—The Thomas Mooney case was officially before the county grand jury Tuesday.

The long promised investigation of Mooney's conviction of murder as a result of the San Francisco preparedness day dynamiting of 1916 was started at a grand jury meeting when affidavits of Richard W. Smith, former San Francisco policeman and now of Seattle, were given.

Smith's affidavits, it was understood, were in line with a statement he recently had declared he had called the attention of the Mooney prosecution to alleged testimony and had been ignored.

John MacDonald, who was the witness used to identify Mooney and who made an affidavit saying his identification was false, did not appear at last night's session. A special meeting of the grand jury probably will be held Thursday to hear his testimony.

POLICE ON GUARD

WHILE CHICAGOANS ELECT ALDERMAN

Reign of Terror Is Feared in Effort to Unseat Veteran City Official.

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago.—An army of four hundred policemen and scores of heavily armed detectives patrolled the Nineteenth ward here Tuesday to prevent impending riots in connection with the aldermanic elections.

Voters Tuesday are to make their decision between Alderman John Powers in office for 32 years, and Anthony D'Andrea, who is attempting to unseat him.

In a hurried conference early Tuesday, Police Chief Fitzmorris and County Judge Frank C. Righelmer decided to take all precautions necessary to prevent a reign of terror in the ward Tuesday.

The pre-election campaign in the ward has been marked by bombings and shagging. Several men were severely wounded recently when a hall in which D'Andrea was addressing his lieutenants was bombed and the building almost wrecked.

Detectives worked all night in rounding up alleged gunmen in the district and ordering them out under penalty of imprisonment.

This is the first time in Chicago political history that ballots were not sent to voting places the day before the election. They were shipped out to the polls Tuesday morning to forestall an alleged attempt of ballot stuffing.

Judge Righelmer called election judges and clerks to his court room Monday night and, in a heart-to-heart plea for peace, said:

"Small organized bands of bomb throwers, gunmen, repeaters and criminals in the past have spread terror and made a mockery of the law on election day."

"Decent citizens have appealed to me for protection from a reign of terror and lawlessness. It is my intention to eliminate 'bad lands' from Chicago's election map."

The judge planned to place a special representative of his court in each of the 29 polling places.

The fight for ward committeemen last April was featured by kidnappings and shooting affairs.

BUCKING ENGINE ENDS LONG FLIGHT

By United Press Leased Wire

Dallas, Texas.—William Coney, aviator attempting a one-stop, twenty-four hour flight from the Pacific to the Atlantic, landed 200 miles west of Dallas today.

Coney was forced down to make repairs, according to word brought to Love aviation field here. He landed at Elroy, Colo. today.

Word of Coney's safe landing reached here after he had been lost for nearly six hours. Officials held grave fears for his safety.

Coney successfully completed the most dangerous portion of his perilous journey, passing over the mountain area where aviators encounter treacherous air currents, in the dark of night.

Coney landed safely at 7:41 a. m. after a 24-hour combat with the elements. Arrangements were made at Love aviation field to send airplanes from there to escort or bring the aviator to Dallas.

SEEK TO PRESERVE BADGER FORESTS

Chamber of Commerce Asked to Help Secure State Re-forestation Laws.

Reforestation is becoming one of the absorbing topics among commercial, business and educational organizations of the state. Almost every day communications asking Appleton to take part in the movement to preserve Wisconsin's woods.

One of the latest to get into action is the Phillips Commercial club, Phillips, which has adopted resolutions urging the legislature to take action at this session. A copy of the resolution and a letter calling attention to it was sent here.

Wisconsin is charged with being most careless in conservation of its forests, the resolutions state. Recognized as one of the principal lumbering states in the country, it is slashing its timber reserves without regard for the future.

A definite reforestation policy is urged upon the legislature. The association suggests that funds be provided for this purpose, and that all outcrops lands not fit for agriculture be replanted with timber.

Commercial bodies are urged to help crystallize sentiment in the state so the solons in Madison will not overlook the issue at this session. The matter will be referred to the directors of the chamber by Secretary Corbett at the next meeting.

BUILD DORMITORY AT EVANGELICAL CAMP

Children are to have playground equipment, including swings, sand boxes, merry-go-rounds and other entertaining features.

This year's conferences will be held June 22, 23, 24 and 25. W. Hallows, Cleveland, editor of several church publications, and others, are to speak.

SPECIAL RELEASE DANCE HIT EXTRAORDINARY

10-in. 18721 Rosie—Medley Fox Trot 85c Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra Honolulu Eyes—Medley Waltz Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra

"Rosie" is apparently a Jewish Rosie, for she is introduced with a familiar "Good-Luck" Jewish phrase and there is a general spirit of "Mazeltov" all through the number. It is full of characteristic dry Jewish humor, and it develops, in the middle, to a sort of patriarchal desert-dance with an occasional Celtic "phillew" from the wood-winds. There are one or two remarkable modulations, some fine muted cornet effects and an occasional utterance from a special bass clarinet which seems to go off in a corner and growl by itself. "Rosie" winds up with a curious "doubting-up" of the beat which will commend itself to the less serious sort of fox trotters. "Rosie" is by J. L. Merkur, and introduces "Tired of Me," by Walter Donaldson. "Honolulu Eyes" is by Violinsky, and introduces "I'm in Heaven When I'm in My Mother's Arms," by Milton Ager; and, furthermore, it introduces special whistling effects by Miss Margaret McKee, whose trilling sounds as if a whole forest full of birds surrounded the waiters. For "Honolulu Eyes" is a waltz, and it is well named. If you ever have looked into a pair, you will have had the same difficulty, perhaps, in retaining your intellectual reserve.

BUILD HUGE GAS HOLDER IN NEENAH

Traction Company Arranges to Give Appleton and Neenah Best of Service.

Construction of a huge gas holder has been started by the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company near its electric substation in Neenah. A crew of about 40 men is erecting the foundation.

With a capacity of 300,000 feet, the new storage tank will hold a sufficient supply of gas to take care of Neenah for 24 hours. It is to measure about 75 feet in diameter and is said to hold twice as much gas as the holder in use here.

Addition of this tank to the company's gas equipment will be a help to Appleton as well as Neenah. It will be possible to give Neenah full pressure at the time of peak loads without drawing on the Appleton supply sufficiently to affect the pressure here.

There has been no complaint in neither city for the past month or more about gas service, but considerable agitation was in Neenah previously because the pressure went low at times. The company is asking increased gas and electric rates, but the railroad commission denied the request until adequate service could be assured. There will be no question of a plentiful gas supply with the new equipment added, it is believed.

ENGAGE NOTED SPEAKERS FOR M. E. CONFERENCE

William Jennings Bryan probably will be one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist church at Byron, Fond du Lac county, starting July 7, according to a decision of the directors. The camp will continue through July 17.

A young people's institute is to be conducted and there will also be a number of prominent speakers of the Methodist denomination. Among them are Bishop Thomas Wesley Burns, Montana; Dr. James Waddesspoon, rector St. James church, Chicago; Rev. Smith, Minneapolis; Dr. Gratton, Chicago, and Dr. Musser, Indian missionary.

HOW TO GUARD AGAINST APPENDICITIS ATTACK

Appendicitis is an intestinal infection often due to old, retained waste matter. Even though bowels move daily, poisons may accumulate in the system for months. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-I-ka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and brings out matter which might start an appendicitis infection. EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach and chronic constipation. Adler-I-ka brings out matter which you never thought was in your system.—F. G. Walker, druggist, adv.

SLOAN'S GOES RIGHT TO THE ACHING SPOT

You can just tell by its healthy, stimulating odor, that it is going to do you good

THOUSANDS of men and women, when the least little rheumatic "crick" assails them, have Sloan's Liniment ready to knock it out. Popular over a third of a century ago—far more popular today.

That's because it is so wonderfully helpful in relieving external aches and pains—sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia, overstrained muscles, stiff joints, weather exposure results. A little is all that is necessary, for it soon penetrates without rubbing, to the sore spot. No muss, no stained skin.

APPLETON MAN IS ELECTED PRINCIPAL

Paul M. Vincent, former Appleton young man and graduate of Lawrence college, has been elected principal of Stevens Point high school for the year beginning next September at a salary of $2,500 a year. He is now athletic coach of the Stevens Point school at a salary of $2,000 a year.

Mr. Vincent was elected to the position after the present principal, L. R. Klinger, announced he would not be a candidate for reelection because he is planning to leave the state. He will serve out the remainder of this term.

Mr. Vincent went to Stevens Point as head of the athletic department about two years ago and is one of the most popular members of the faculty. It was said at the meeting of the board of education at which Mr. Vincent was elected that not more than eight out of the twenty-one high school teachers would return next term.

MAKE AUSTRIAN PARCELS DELIVERABLE TO POOR

Rather than pay return postage and transit charges of 40 to 55 cents on parcel post packages mailed to Austria and found undeliverable, the postoffice department has issued notices that these should be marked "If undeliverable, deliver to the poor." This arrangement will make it possible for the postoffice officials at Vienna to turn the parcels over to needy persons. It is believed most shippers will prefer this rather than the delay and expense accompanying return of packages to this country.

Look Who's Here

Cleo Mayfield, America's famous beauty, who appears with Cecil Lean in "Look Who's Here," at Appleton theatre, Feb. 25, is a practical young woman and one who has some strikingly original views.

The other night she was in the company of a number of well known stage people and the conversation turned to the subject of success. Miss Mayfield listened to the entire discussion and then said:

"I have been immensely interested, but do you know that not one of you has expressed what to mind really constitutes success. To be a success, I think, you must feel that you are a success and if you are not a success in your own estimation you cannot be a success, no matter how the public regards you."

"If you have the feeling at the close of the day's work that it has been a day of fulfillment, if you feel that satisfaction which comes from the knowledge of work well done, if you

CENTRAL EUROPE POSTAGE RAISED

Several Countries Fix New Rate to This Country—Hits Return Postage.

Postal rates in several foreign countries increased February 1, according to notice received by the local postoffice, and those enclosing return postage must therefore familiarize themselves with the new terms.

New rates were agreed upon in the universal postal convention in Madrid in 1920. The price is to be 50 cents for the first ounce, or 10 cents in United States money, and 25 cents for each additional ounce, or five cents.

These rates may be put into operation by any foreign country by January 1, 1921, but on that date they become general, except in the United States, Denmark, Italy, Finland, Norway, Switzerland and France are already charging the new rates.

United States rates of 5 cents an ounce continue in effect to these countries. Those who are in the habit of preparing postage back to this country when writing relatives or firms in Europe must see that the amount is sufficient to bring their letters back here. The custom has been to purchase reply coupons at the Appleton office. These cost 6 cents and are good for five cents toward postage in all foreign countries. It was previously necessary to purchase only one, but two must now be enclosed.

MANY COMING TO HEAR MRS. REID

Noted Chicago Sales Teacher Is to Speak in Vocational School Wednesday.

Salespeople and heads of 55 business establishments in Fox River valley cities from Green Bay to Fond du Lac are coming to Appleton Wednesday evening to hear the address on "Retail Selling" in the vocational school by Mrs. Genevieve P. Reid, Chicago. She is one of the speakers scheduled in the weekly merchandising course.

Mrs. Reid is educational director of Marshall Field and company's Chicago retail store. She is reputed to be one of the best teachers of salesmanship in the country and is so widely known that her training and advice are sought everywhere. Every employee entering the Field store is required to go through a salesmanship school conducted by her before he is permitted to take a position behind the counter.

W. S. Ford, director of the vocational school, has extended an invitation to every merchant and salesperson in Appleton to hear Mrs. Reid. Her lecture will start promptly at 7 o'clock and there is to be no charge for admission.

Marshall Field and company, in the interest of better merchandising, has informed all merchants throughout the valley about the gathering. The group of 15 from Neenah who heard Harry N. Tolles last week will come again this week. One Green Bay store is sending seven and large numbers are expected from other establishments.

ROADS AND FARMING

Good roads are the one great public work that stands out primarily for the benefit of the farmer. Good roads make for better farming. They lower production and marketing costs, they widen the margin of agricultural profit, they increase the value of land.

Good roads mean a vastly improved social life to the farmer, his family and his employees. They contribute to health and enjoyment, because they lighten labor and afford direct pleasures and conveniences. To say nothing of the many things they indirectly place within reach that would otherwise be unattainable.

It is estimated that more than a billion dollars have been appropriated for good roads programs. The bulk of this money is to go for permanent highway construction. National, state, municipal, county and township governments are going ahead with the great improvement. Something like $500,000,000 will be available the next two years.

The cost of labor, materials and deliveries will determine the amounts of construction actually undertaken this year, but the good roads movement has reached a momentum that will spend itself only when the country is a network of the best highways to be found in the world.

Farmers of the United States own some 2,500,000 automobiles and trucks. They know that in this day and age the mud road is not for them. And so do millions of other farmers who are prospective car owners and who are seeking to make agriculture the profitable industry it ought to be.

GEORGE WASHINGTON, FIRST

Every schoolchild has heard: "George Washington, first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." And they have come to know him as a general, a statesman, and beloved by his fellowman.

There were other sides of Washington. In them, too, he was first, which is to say he was in the foremost rank. "He was very exact in all business as well as very shrewd at a bargain," writes Historian Henry Cabot Lodge. "And the tradition is that his neighbors considered the general a formidable man in a horse trade, that most difficult of all transactions." We imagine that, were our modern captains of industry to devote their attention to horse-trading, they might prove very formidable at it.

Washington's business was farming. "He managed his plantations entirely himself," says Lodge in his biography of the first president, "and did it well. He knew the qualities of each field, and the rotation of its crops. No improvement in agriculture and no ingenious invention escaped his attention." It is probable that were Washington alive today, and on his farm, his would be a machine-farm. The tractor would have replaced the horse, and scrub stock would not be tolerated. He was, you observe, first in farming.

But that is not all of this many-sided first president. He was first in dressing. His youthful fancy strongly leaned toward handsome dress. Senator Lodge assures us, adding: "He never ceased to take an interest in it. He had the best possible taste and the keenest sense of what was appropriate."

How many of our good farmers also are immaculate dressers? How many of the world's greatest generals also are formidable horse traders? How many of our able business men are good farmers? How many of our presidents have been good business men? And how few of our best dressers are presidents, generals, captains of industry, leading farmers? Only one American has been first in all. That man of many firsts was born 180 years ago today, at Bridges Creek, Va.

RESTRICTING IMMIGRATION

The legislative record of congress will not be wholly a blank if the house agrees to the Dillingham bill to restrict immigration as amended by the senate. The senate amendment limits admissions from any country to three per cent of the number of natives of that country residing in the United States in 1910. Based upon the figures of that census this will permit in round numbers 355,000 aliens to enter the United States in the period from April 1, 1924 to July 1, 1922. Practically all loopholes by which the purpose of the bill might be evaded were voted down. Preference will be given to wives and children of aliens already in this country.

The need of restrictive legislation to stop wholesale immigration to the United States has been widely recognized. In view of industrial conditions here and the inability to absorb large numbers of foreigners at this time in self-sustaining pursuits, except at the expense of American labor, a law of this kind has become a national necessity. It will protect foreigners as well as our own people. We must solve our own economic and social problems and take care of our own people before attempting further to assimilate immigrants in numbers that are indigestible.

The results of the World war have altered our status temporarily as the land of opportunity to those abroad. We have reached the point where orderly and healthy national development demands a rational immigration policy. We can no longer throw the doors open to the world. To do so would inevitably lower the standards of American living, and that we must elevate rather than reduce.

SELLING SMALL PEOPLES

Senator Willis of Ohio thinks that a good way to help both the British and ourselves would be to accept Jamaica, the Bahamas, the Windward Islands and the Lesser Antilles, including Trinidad, in part payment of that war debt of four and a half billions. In part payment of three and a half billions owed us by France Senator Willis would also have the United States accept the island of Guadalupe and several other smaller islands of the West Indies. The two transactions, he says, would give us complete control of the West Indies and the Caribbean Sea, thus fully safeguarding the Panama canal. In this way the transfers would benefit the United States, while the cutting down of their war debts would tend to relieve the financial embarrassments of England and France. In the senator's view only congress on the one hand, and the governments of England and France on the other, would be concerned.

But if the inhabitants of these islands should object to the transfer, what then? Are not England and France committed to the principle of self-determination of peoples? Certainly the United States is. There was a time when islands could be bartered and sold by the will of their distant controlling powers alone, but that time is supposed to be past. Senator Willis has overlooked what ought to be the most important feature of the proposition. Taking territory by conquest still obtains, but taking lands and the people on them in payment of debts is another matter. The islanders might consent to such a transfer, but in any case they would need to be consulted.

CHEER UP!

By Whit Hadley
Lowell said: "And he who waits to have his task marked out, shall die and leave his errand unfulfilled."

Charles Lee Cook, Louisville millionaire, is a cripple without legs. He was born in poverty, taken from school when seven, and has never walked in his life.

Last year he refused a $40,000 a year job. During a recent examination he displayed a vocabulary of 35,000 words and defined 15,000 synonyms.

He studied mechanics in a wheel chair, invented the automatic lubricating device used on all trans-Atlantic ships, designed and built at Brunswick, Co., the largest ice-making works in the world, and has now made a device which enables one man to do the work of thirty skilled mechanics.

For 12 years he toiled in obscurity in his father's stable, working 17 hours a day in his wheel chair.

Twenty-nine years ago, Louis Jay Horowitz arrived as immigrant from Poland. His first job was errand boy at $2 a week.

Today he is one of the greatest builders in the world, a place to which he has risen by grit, vision and ability. He is now president of the Thompson-Stanley Co. of New York.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered without Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

LONG DISTANCE SITTING

Most of us who give exercise any thought at all decide to go to it for whatever it is worth, writes F. A. S. Jr., but almost the enthusiasm wanes and the paunch grows. In a somewhat extended experience with exercise and games I venture the belief that the big trouble with "exercise" which, by the way, includes walking is that there is no sort of economic use to stung one in a tender spot when one shrinks the task.

But in play, continues our correspondent, and that is something else again. The fellow who has learned to play handball will think twice about passing up the usual hour of play. The volley ball enthusiast of forty or so renews his membership somewhat more regularly than the exercise fiend. The fellow who plays indoor baseball arranges his dates with his girl to give him the regular play hours to himself, and, by the way, that makes it easier after he has married to cop the same habit. I've tried it and know. The tennis player—next to the golf bug the tennis player takes precedence over all sport lovers.

So then, concludes F. A. S. Jr., exercise is rather a question of what sort of diversion or game can be relied upon to trick one into constant enthusiasm, to put spice and vim into a spiritless and useless life, and, incidentally, to keep one in trim.

F. A. S. Jr., clearly points out a fundamental physiological fact. If your daily exercise is not itself a pleasure it does comparatively little good. If long distance sitting tournaments were conducted regularly in this country, no doubt capture the winners, the country would no doubt capture all the championships in the all-seasons event. Probably no people in the world can compete with us in the sitting game.

Two miles of oxygen three times a day on the hoof is a much better efficiency insurance and health preserver than any calisthenics or other room gymnastics or gymnasium work of which I know, not excepting my own fifteen minutes exercise system, which you may have for the inevitable stamped, self-addressed envelope. So is a daily game of tennis, basketball, indoor baseball, or back-yard three-old-cat. The only advantage room exercises have over these other exercises is time. No man of woman can plead lack of time for a daily fifteen-minute session for the maintenance of physical efficiency, but many days it is impossible, for one reason or another, for one to get in the six miles of oxygen or a swim or a session with the gloves or whatever the play appetite may call for.

Both F. A. S. Jr., and myself have in mind the health value of daily exercise, not the development of great muscles or freak strength such as the "physical culture" ignoramus would have you strive for. Neither strength nor endurance goes with enormous muscles; indeed, such muscular development saps a man's energy and tends to shorten his life. Freaks do not attain old age.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Child Tea Habits
My sister's little girl, aged seven, has had a mild attack of St. Vitus' dance. My sister allows her to have strong tea and coffee. Please tell me whether this is injurious. (Mrs. W. E.)

ANSWER—No child under sixteen years of age should be allowed to take tea or coffee. To give these strong nerve, heart, and kidney stimulants to little children is to invite trouble. It would be particularly injurious to a child with St. Vitus' dance or one who has had that disease, for the nervous system is already too irritable and weak.

Lesson
Night and morning I drink a glass of water with the juice of a lemon in it, as it helps me to avoid constipation. Would the constant use thin my blood or be injurious in any way? (M. M.)

ANSWER—No. It can do you no harm.

The Voice
Why is the human voice strong, vibrant, and clear when singing or speaking at one time, and weak, dull, or husky at another time, seemingly in spite of excellent physical condition? (C. F. S.)

ANSWER—Atmospheric conditions may be different. I find my voice is wonderfully strong, vibrant, and clear when bawling at the children to make less noise when we are alone, whereas it dwindles to a faint peep when the hired girl is around.

Deep Breathing
We have been having a discussion on deep breathing in our hygiene class, and there appears to be a division of opinion on the subject. Is it a healthful habit? (Miss B. F. C.)

ANSWER—Active or conscious or intentional deep breathing avails nothing save in the imagination. Any physiologist can tell you that the comparatively slight muscular effort involved in such exercise is insufficient to increase materially the amount of oxygen absorbed by the blood. But passive, unconscious deep breathing, such as occurs with vigorous exercise of any kind, is fine for the health. Breathing like heart action is involuntary or automatic and those functions are best left alone.

The Soldier And His Girl

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—Two hundred and fifty pretty girls, properly chaperoned, are delivered by rail every Saturday at Camp Dix, New Jersey.

The girls, and all others concerned hope that these weekly importations can be not only continued but increased.

For there are some 10,000 soldiers at Camp Dix, and the gymnasium 10 deep when the girls arrive, each seeking what is so hard for an enlisted man far from home to get—the companionship of a nice girl.

This movement to supply the Army with girls is a new thing, and it is being carried through an Army organization known as the bureau of women's relations. This bureau establishes a club, or perhaps several of them, in each of the camps which are occupied by our standing army.

Each club is in charge of a woman whose duty it is to provide the men with entertainment by giving dances and parties. The soldiers may bring their women friends and relatives, if they have any, and if not the hostess provides the girls. The work is immensely popular with the men and also with their commanding officers.

Generals Wood, Evans, Edwards, and many others have endorsed the work, and even called it indispensable. Their endorsements are needed, because the work cannot go on unless congress appropriates at least $200,000 for the purpose. It is a small amount, but small items are just the ones that congress likes to prune out of an appropriation bill. Hence the Army is conducting a vigorous propaganda to convince congress and the people that this bureau of women's relations, which is now being carried on with left-over war time contributions, ought to be made a permanent part of the army.

And their propaganda brings out some interesting facts about our peace time army, and about soldiers and girls.

A Student Army
The first fact pointed out by Miss Phipps, who is one of the women leading the work, is that our present army is an army of boys, who have enlisted for the purpose of getting an education. There are exceptions, of course. The veteran "hard-boiled" is still a figure in the army. But the great majority of the enlisted men are boys from 19 to 22 years of age, who have been attracted by the widely advertised educational opportunities which the Army is now offering. These, in a word, are boys of college age, who could not afford a college education, and have joined the army instead. Many of them are young men who want education in mechanical and engineering lines. May of them are young immigrants who want to learn the language and the history of their new country.

The point made by the army—as represented by Miss Phipps—is that in advertising itself as an educational opportunity, and thereby getting the services of a lot of ambitious young men of the most formative age, the army has assumed a new and heavy

Q. In making out income tax returns for 1920, am I required to report the salary received by my wife prior to July 1, the month in which we were married? F. W. B.

A. When filing income tax return, you may include therein, and may earn by your wife during the year, or you may each make out a separate return.

Q. How far is it from Philadelphia to San Francisco by road? C. W.

A. The American Automobile association says that the distance between Philadelphia and San Francisco by the Lincoln highway is 3,100 miles. There is a shorter route which is 3,350 miles, but there is so much construction being done at present on all roads that no direct route could be taken and the average distance would be 3,000 miles.

Q. How did the term bootlegging originate? S. E. A.

A. The term bootlegging originated in the south, when it was the habit of mountaineers making illicit liquor to carry the same in bottles tucked into the sides of the long boots which were then almost universally worn by the countrymen.

Q. How are whales caught? K. F.

A. Whales are caught by shooting with a combined harpoon and bomb fired from a swivel gun mounted at the bow of a steamer.

Q. Are pearls sold by weight? E. N. C.

A. Pearls are not sold by weight for the reason that in matching them, size and color are the most important factors.

Q. Can you tell me the legend of the so-called lucky stones? J. F. G.

A. The legend of the lucky stones of Virginia is that many centuries ago in the Blue Ridge mountains, a band of fairies worked chiseling out these little crosses, which were tokens of good luck, and which they carried with them on their travels through the world. On the day of the crucifixion, however, the grief of the fairies was so intense that they left the earth and the stones of their labors, and have never been seen since. Many people, however, still in use were not equipped for the most efficient work. Lobbyists said six years ago when the state board of education was established that one of its purposes was to smash the state department of public instruction, of which Mr. Cary is the head, and that ultimately the state superintendent was to sit idly by and twiddle his thumbs, the speaker said.

Plays For Governor

The education board was first constituted so that none of its members was appointed by the governor. It was to have a commissioner of education appointed by the governor, really having the same office as the superintendent. This was later changed and the makeup of the board altered so the governor could do the appointing. This body had no duties that somebody else could not perform better. First all finances were administered by it, and later appropriations were made to each board of regents, but approval of capital account expenditures was retained. This meant that all buildings and improvements had to be sanctioned by the state board of education; that regents and others had to beg this body for what they knew they needed.

Can't Shape Policies

Perhaps Mr. Cary's greatest criticism of the board was that it met about once every two months and was not in touch with the schools in any way so that it was equipped with knowledge of what was needed. He tried to shape the educational policies of the state, which it was not capable of doing intelligently.

Speaking of the state board of vocational education, the mentor said this function was taken from his board through agitation by politicians and manufacturers who wanted children to learn only their trades and not take "cultural" studies. Mr. Cary refused to accede to this policy and the legislature made the change.

The upshot of all this is confusion in the minds of the people concerning the state's educational administration, and causes extra expense to the taxpayers. The Olson bill now wants to abolish the state board of education, which would not affect the school system at all, Mr. Cary believed. Another bill favors abolition of the vocational board. A third bill said to be coming, and known as the Skogmo bill, was mentioned, but Mr. Cary said he had no definite knowledge as to what its provisions would be, although he suggested that it might contain other proposals for change.

As a remedy for this entire situation, Mr. Cary said the state ought to go back to conditions as they existed prior to formation of the state board of education. There should be a board for every kind of institution, such as one for the universities, one for normal schools, one for Stout institute, and others. These should be under the guidance of the state department of public instruction, with a constitutional officer at the head. A simple system would thus be provided.

"If there is any serious demand to be rid of a constitutional officer and replace him with one who becomes appointative, there ought to be a constitutional amendment, as any other method is trickery," said the speaker. "This should not be accomplished by any back door methods. If the state got rid of its constitutional officer, it would require some kind of board and its members ought to be elected, not appointed."

Mr. Cary showed how impossible it was to inject politics in the educational system even though he was elected by the people. His direct responsibility to them made it his duty to serve the state well. He said any appointive system would take away the people's change to deal directly with those in authority and would result in a system of "passing the buck."

Explaining how Ayres report placing Wisconsin schools thirty-third in the United States had distorted and juggled figures without any correct basis, he termed the report as sheer nonsense. He showed how Montana's school system was one of the poorest, yet it stood at the top of the list because it spent the most money for its schools.

Many pointed questions were asked during the open forum and workings of Mr. Cary's board were explained, especially as to the educational program and budget.

THE BOOK OF DEBORAH.

Some Girls Think They're Cute When They "Put It Over" Someone's Wife.

Ann was in a stall on the other side of the room. We could not see her companion. The luxuriously fitted stalls which lined the sides of the restaurant were deep and narrow, and made comfortable with many hand-some cushions. Dividing partitions reached to the mezzanine above and provided with partial seclusion for patrons dining in.

I heard once more the lovely laugh that hurt me so, and Deb, hearing it also, regarded me with her most worried expression. "Katherine goes everywhere!" I murmured nonchalantly.

"And with so many different men," Deb remarked, then she changed the subject carelessly. "I'm so relieved to find Ann in one of the alcoves. You know, my dear, there's been a lot of gossip about the mad parties in the small dining rooms upstairs."

I didn't take pains to reply to Deborah. I was listening for that low laugh, listening for the voice of the man who must be sitting across the table from the woman with the choice contralto. Both persons were hidden from us by the high walls of their alcove. Their conversation was lost once more in the wail of a sombre oriental love song. Even as I strained my ears to catch the familiar tone of my husband's voice, I caught the drift of Deb's excited talk:

"Ann is some flirt," she was saying. "She is so absorbed in her companion that she hasn't found out we are here!"

"I suppose you can't imagine who is with Katherine?" My voice shrilled unpleasantly. "Why, it's Bob, of course!" Deborah Burns spoke a quieting hand on mine and smiled softly: "Please don't work your imagination overtime, my dear!"

"You're my good friend, Debbie," I sobbed under my breath. At last I understood why she had tried so hard to keep me away from Chang Foo's that afternoon. But I didn't tell her so. Instead, I hurried on in an excitement which was not the less hysterical because it was restrained.

"I'm awfully glad I'm here, Deb. You see I've discovered at last where Bob goes so many afternoons. Only lately I went downtown for him and I just missed him. I was just in time to see him ride off with Katherine! I ought not to tell you this, Debbie, but my heart is almost broken. Can you imagine the feelings of a wife?" Here I actually giggled. It was better than weeping in that public place. "Why, Deb, I was so upset that I stalled my car and created a traffic jam, and so I lost my only chance of following them. Ever since, Deb dear, I've been thinking the most terrible things about them! But I was wrong. I suppose they simply came here for tea?" I put my dread as a question. "They come here for tea, of course," was my friend's comforting endeavor. "It might be so much worse! Personally, I don't see how a girl who respects herself can run around with a young married man, even for a cigarette and tea."

"Of course you can't," I said bitterly. "You couldn't trespass on another woman's rights, Deborah. But some girls think they're awfully cute and clever when they 'put it over' somebody's wife."

"Certainly you don't regard Katherine as a very important trespasser, I hope."

"I want to tell you something, Deborah Burns. As an educated young woman I have the most advanced notions about freedom in married life and the rights of the individual, man or woman. But as a wife, I'm as primitive, as elementally feminine—as every other loving wife is fated to be. I'll never come to be jealous until I cease to care about Bob."

MORY SCORES HIT WITH ADDRESS AT CONVENTION

One of the most appreciated addresses at the recent convention of Wisconsin Ice Cream Manufacturers' association in Milwaukee was one by Karl B. Mory of the Mory Ice Cream Co., according to the Ice Cream Review, a trade publication. The editor makes the following observation:

"One of the youngest ice cream manufacturers in the state, and in the country, for that matter, Mr. Karl B. Mory, manager of the Mory Ice Cream Co. of Appleton, told the delegates of his 'First Impressions as a Beginner in the Ice Cream Industry.' Mr. Mory had talked but a few minutes, however, when it was evident to everyone present that he had made some gigantic strides in the business and his progressive ideas made a profound hit with his colleagues."

JUNIOR SCHOOL IS CORRECT SOLUTION

Members of the Appleton school boards held a luncheon in the high school Monday noon with C. P. Cary, state superintendent of public instruction as guest. Members of the school survey committee also attended.

Mr. Cary spoke concerning Appleton's school problems, dealing particularly with the high school situation. He agreed with the majority of the board members that junior high schools would be the ultimate and correct solution of the crowded conditions, and hoped this would become a possibility. He explained the plan, workings and administration of junior high schools, and some of the results obtained in other places.

An open discussion followed Mr. Cary's address in which many phases of the high school problem were explained. Board members took opportunity to ask a number of questions on matters not clear to them. The luncheon was served by girls of the home economics classes.

Mrs. George H. Utz attended the meeting of the Menasha Ladies Study club at the home of Mrs. Harry H. Fisher, Menasha, Monday evening.

"Up in the sky" came quite close to the star. It was swinging happily on a long rope hanging from a corner of the moon. "Oh, hello," it called. "Here you are at last. I've been waiting and waiting. Come along to my house, and I'll tell you how you may get to the South Pole safely. With my sharp eyes I have spied out a secret passage. And thank you for the lovely flower you have brought."

The twins were looking about curiously. "You are not a bit like Mr. Morning Star," said Nancy. "We visited him once."

"That's right," nodded the star. "That was all different and as different as grains of sand are from mountains. Besides some of us are whole worlds and some are little like me and live in glass houses so they may shine through. Here we are now."

And the star stopped before a little house of crystal, all points like himself.

LITTLE IS LEFT FOR STATE RAIL RATE COMMISSION

Interstate Commerce Board Usurps All Rate Fixing Authority.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Madison, Wis.—According to word received from Washington by the railroad commission the extent of the power claimed by the interstate commerce commission under its construction of the law as it now stands may be indicated summarily as follows:

It claims the right to advance intrastate rates without reference to the effect of such rates on persons or localities engaged in interstate commerce, and without reference to whether they already yield a fair return on the value of the property devoted to transportation within the state where in force.

In the New York case, where the state commission had power to increase the statutory fare, but no application complying with the law had been made to the commission, the federal commission, nevertheless, advanced all rates within the state, except commutation fares.

In the Illinois freight rate case it ordered set aside the state commission's carefully worked-out schedule, which permitted an average advance of 25 per cent, and yielded more than 6 per cent return, and ordered a horizontal increase of 40 per cent throughout the state, even on lines where interstate rates had been advanced only 25 per cent or less. It is now proceeding to review intrastate commutation fares in and about Chicago.

In the Arkansas case it again held it optional with carriers whether they will first apply to a state commission having jurisdiction to grant increases before applying to the federal commission.

In the South Carolina case the commission even went so far as to prescribe minimum passenger fares and a 15-cent conductor's penalty charge, without rebate, to be paid by passengers without tickets.

In all cases thus far decided state-wide advances have been ordered without consideration of particular rates, placing upon state authorities the burden of seeking and showing cause for modification, in the case of rates that ought not to be advanced. In all cases orders have been made "to remain in force until the further order of the commission."

This shows conclusively that if these orders are valid state power of regulation of intrastate rates has been destroyed.

URGE STATE SOLONS TO HANG ON TO MONEY

Waukesha Chamber of Commerce Starts Greater Economy Movement.

Waukesha's Association of Commerce has started a movement among Wisconsin commercial organizations to urge state officials and the legislature to practice economy in the months to come. A request has been received by the Appleton chamber to use its influence along this line. The matter will come before the directors at this week's meeting.

Communications will be transmitted to members of the legislature and others calling attention to the need of reduced expenditures. They are also urged to eliminate all new undertakings that are not absolutely needed, consistent with the general welfare. Taxpayers all over Waukesha county are urged to write their assemblymen and senators along these lines.

The Waukesha association hopes by this means to build up a sentiment which will cause reduction of taxation for the next year or two. It is believed that the state's progress will not be curtailed by exercising conservatism in administration.

CALLAHAN WILL OPPOSE CARY IN APRIL ELECTION

Former Menasha Man Announces His Candidacy for State Superintendent.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Madison—John Callahan, secretary of the state board of vocational education and a prominent educator in Wisconsin for the last thirty years, today announced his candidacy for the position of state superintendent of public instruction in opposition to C. P. Cary who has held that office for 18 years.

Mr. Callahan had been urged by his friends and by educators in all parts of the state for several months to make the race against Mr. Cary, but although in hearty accord with the movement to secure a change in the administration of the department that there might be the much needed cooperation in the entire school system, he has declined to become a candidate until today when he finally accepted the call at the urgent request of the educational leaders and many members of the legislature.

Mr. Callahan began his education in the rural schools of Pierce county where he taught for three years. Since then he has served successively and successfully as supervising principal of the grades and high school of Glenwood City for eight years, New Richmond three years, superintendent of schools of Menasha for seventeen years and state director of vocational education for the last three years.

He was president of the Northwestern Teachers' association in 1900, president of the Northeastern Teachers' association in 1908 and president of the State Teachers' association in 1912. ## HELP 8 MORE COUNTIES TO SECURE FARM AGENT

(Special to Post-Crescent) Madison—The assembly on Monday afternoon sent to engrossment the bill introduced by Assemblyman H. M. Mark, Iron county, providing for state aid for eight more county agents on July 1, 1921, bringing the number to 58, increasing it to 65 on July 1, 1922 and 71 or an agent for each county by July 1, 1923.

At the present time the state allows $1,000 per year towards the salary of fifty county agents. It is optional with the county board as to whether or not an agricultural agent shall be employed for the county, but since the first enactment of the law there have always been more counties on the waiting list than could be supplied by the appropriation. The Mark bill will provide for an agent for each county by 1923 and provides for the annual appropriation after that date.

LUTHERAN AID MAY BUILD THIS SPRING

Architects Preparing Plans for Three Story and Five Story Buildings.

While no definite steps have been taken there is every indication that the new office building of the Lutheran Aid society at the corner of College-ave. and Superior-st. will be built the coming season.

At a meeting of the building committee Saturday night architects were ordered to prepare plans of plans, one for a three story building and the other for a five story building to cover the entire corner which is 90 by 130 feet in dimensions.

As soon as the plans are prepared they will be submitted to the board of directors which will then take definite action as to whether the building will be erected this spring. It is the intention of the association to go ahead with the building providing it can be erected at anything like a reasonable figure.

LEGION OFFICERS PRESENT REPORTS

Delegates to Marshfield Conference Speak Before Executive Committee.

Plans for the coming membership drive of the Onee Johnston post of the American Legion were completed at a special meeting of the executive committee in the gold room of Hotel Appleton Monday noon. The annual ball to be held in March was also discussed.

Thomas Morrissey and L. Hugo Keller, gave interesting reports of the state meeting of Legion officers and adjutants in Marshfield Saturday. They reviewed the address of Federal Judge K. M. Landis, who declared that he would use his influence to bring relief to wounded or disabled soldiers, and would help make the government adjust a vast volume of claims awaiting attention.

The delegates also brought back man valuable ideas for building up the membership and increasing interest in legion meetings. It was announced as the aim of the Wisconsin posts to secure a membership of at least 50,000 by July 1.

Addresses were also given at the conference by Lemuel G. Bolles, national adjutant, and Claudius Pendill, state commander. More than 1,000 former service men were present.

COUNTY PIONEERS GATHER HERE FOR ANNUAL REUNION

Forty-ninth Meeting of Pioneer
Association Is Held in Odd Fellow Hall.

Once again Outagamie county's pioneers, looking older and grayer than a year ago, are in Appleton today for the annual reunion of the Outagamie County Pioneers association. This is the forty-ninth time these veterans of battles, with the forests and privation have gathered here to discuss old times and gain new courage for the years that remain.

Not all of the pioneers who are here today are old men. Sons of the original settlers are numbered among the men who are meeting in Odd Fellow hall, listening to a discussion of days that are past and those which are to come. The majority, however, are men and women who have lived in Outagamie county for upwards of a half century.

The program began with a brief business meeting before the annual dinner which was served at 12 o'clock. The entertainment program began shortly after 1 o'clock and was to continue until about 9:30.

Dr. T. D. Williams, superintendent of Appleton district of the Methodist church, was to deliver the annual address and Attorney F. J. Rooney

City Honors Birthday Of Washington

Flags were visible on public buildings and business houses Tuesday morning, commemorating the birthday anniversary of the foremost American in history, George Washington. Banks, postoffice, city hall, court house and a few other places were closed, but business went on as usual otherwise.

Special programs were conducted in many of the schools in honor of the nation's first president. There was no public commemoration of the day, but two annual events make the day memorable to some people. One is the reunion of the Outagamie County Pioneers association and the other is the memorial service of the Rainbow division veterans.

QUARTET PRESENTS PLEASING PROGRAM

Presenting music of a class radically different from that which Appleton people are accustomed to hearing in concerts, the Obphus Four, quartet, pleased a big audience in Lawrence Memorial chapel Monday evening. The singers presented the sixth number of the lyceum and lecture series.

While the quartet was not the best ever heard in Appleton, it made a good impression. The program included music of every description, from humorous numbers to classics. The solo numbers apparently pleased the audience more than any of the others, although the quartet appeared to best advantage in its ensemble numbers.

The harmony was particularly pleasing in the barcarole from "Tales of Hoffman," and in "Annie Laurie." In the last mentioned selection the melody was thrown from one member of the quartet to another, making a very pleasing number.

There was enough light music mixed with the heavier numbers to make a well balanced program which pleased quite well.

GIRLS READY FOR CAGE
GAMES IN H. S. TONIGHT

Everything is in readiness for the basketball game which will be played Tuesday evening between the Red Sox and the Indians, two teams of the recreation department of Appleton. The game is to be held at the high school gymnasium.

Mike O. Fisch of Hilbert, visited Appleton Monday on business.

Miss Anna Reupenthal of Tigerton, has accepted a position with the Langstadt-Meyer company.

CANAL CO. TO PUT UP NEW BUILDING ON COLLEGE-AVE.

Lot at Corner of College-ave.
and Superior-st. Purchased by Company.

The Green Bay & Mississippi Canal Co., which has been located for several years in the former bank building at the corner of College-ave. and Morrison-st. which was recently purchased by J. E. Voigt, has just closed a deal with John Schneider for the purchase of the vacant lot at the southwest corner of College-ave. and Superior-st. on which it will erect a handsome office building within the next year or two. The consideration was not announced.

Two other new buildings are soon to occupy the corner, that of August Brandt Co., work upon which is to commence as soon as the frost is out of the ground, and the new office building to be erected by the Lutheran Aid association which is almost definitely decided will be built this summer. The former will occupy the old Globe hotel site and the latter the former site of Welcome Hyde's residence.

The fact J. E. Voigt, the new owner of the former bank building, is having plans prepared for the remodeling of his new property has caused both the Green Bay & Mississippi Canal Co. and George Baldwin to cast about for temporary quarters. Each will occupy a suite of offices on the second floor of the building at present occupied by Langstadt & Meyer as soon as that company moves its office to its new building on Washington-st. It will perhaps be several months before these changes are made.

Leonard Murphy of Bear Creek, was an Appleton visitor Tuesday.

PIMPLES ON FACE AND BODY

Itched Something Fierce.
Lost Rest. Cuticura Heals.

"The trouble I had started with small pimples on my face and body. The pimples festered and when I would squeeze them they would dry and scale. They itched something fierce, and I lost a lot of rest scratching them. I tried all kinds of remedies but nothing helped. I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and bought them, and when I had used them about two months I was completely healed." (Signed) Bernard Breitenbach, Sherman Ave., Ft. Atkinson, Wis. # AMATEUR WIRELESS STATIONS HERE GET HARDING MESSAGE

President-Elect Asks Amateurs to Relay Message to Mayors and Governors.

Appleton wireless amateurs cooperated in one of the biggest amateur events in years Monday evening in assisting the transmission of a relay message from President-elect W. G. Harding. The message consisted of 30 words and it was flashed thoroughly over the country and relayed from one station to another so that every section would receive the message.

According to a plan outlined in the "Q. S. T.," an amateur wireless magazine, the message was to have been copied by an operator in every city, town and village and taken to the highest official for his receipt. The message was received by Robert Thompson Monday evening. It ran as follows:

"May the spirit of Washington be our guide in all our national aspirations and may the current events mark the return to tranquility, stability, confidence and progress for the entire world. Signed, Senator Harding, Marion, Ohio."

The message was addressed to all governors and mayors in the country and the movement gave the amateur

HOW TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

A Cincinnati Barber Tells How To Make a Remedy for Gray Hair

A well known resident of Cincinnati, Ohio, who has been a barber for more than forty years, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the most delicate scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

wireless supporters an opportunity to show their value in the community. The message will be delivered to Mayor J. A. Hawes by Robert Thompson as soon as he has an opportunity.

Thompson, call letter 9 AUF, and Anthony Bank, call letter 9 ALT, have been hearing 'phone calls every night for some time. KDKA sends out music from a phonograph record and follows it with a talk, the whole procedure giving the impression of a concert.

Rank and Thompson have been appointed official relay stations and they will send messages for anyone.

The Sense of Inferiority

A Starved Nervous System Takes the Snap Out of the Otherwise Strong and Capable

Imaginary uneasiness, the peculiar nervous strain that causes some men to shrink so lamentably, is merely a condition of semi-starvation. If you doubt it, let the reconstructive influence of Reolo drive it out of your head completely.

When the nerves have gone smash and the iron has been burned out of the blood, then is the time that the red-blooded fighter finds it all over his pale-faced rival. Reolo is a wonder. It gives you conscious strength. You feel an increased nerve force, nerve control. No more bluff, no halting, no hesitation. With an improved appetite the nerves that were starved come to cry out with pain, the red corpuscles in the blood increase enormously, there is a tinge of color to the skin and a sense of fitness from head to foot. Such is the marvelous capacity of the system to respond to the influence of Reolo. This wonderful reconstructive and strengthening combination so intensifies the activity of the vital processes that you approach any task with a vim that is fairly astonishing.

Ask any of the clerks at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store, or any other leading drug store for a $1.00 box of Reolo. Ask them about its wonderful effect upon a host of people they have sold it to.

KAUKAUNA

NEW CITY HALL IS IN PROSPECT FOR KAUKAUNA IN 1921

Extensive Improvements Are Contemplated by City Authorities.

Kaukauna.—Improvement of the city will be undertaken in large proportions this spring if present plans of city officials go through. It is almost certain that Wisconsin avenue will be paved its full length. Bids for the work will be called for by the council soon.

Plans also are being made for paving portions of the business district on the south side of the river. The present plan of paving will include Second and Third-sts. and a block of Reams-ave., which lies between the two first mentioned streets; a block of Main-ave. and three blocks of Dodge-ave. Bids for paving will be called for in about a month. It is doubtful whether the plans will mature, because under present conditions property owners are standing off with the hope that the cost of paving will drop soon.

It is almost certain there will be improvements in the municipal building. Plans have been prepared for a building of 32 by 144 feet to be built at an estimated cost of $110,000. The building, which will consist of two stories and a basement, will be built of brick with concrete foundation and reinforced concrete floors.

The first floor will accommodate the fire, police and electrical departments and a postoffice. The police office will also be a central voting booth for election. The second floor will be devoted to city offices and a large assembly hall.

In the basement will be a swimming pool, shower baths and a small gymnasium. Some space will be used for store rooms for the electrical department. The ideal situation for the building is on the edge of the river across from the present police station. There it will be centrally located for citizens on both sides of the river, it was said.

The door of the fire department will be so located that the trucks can go three ways, across the river, to the south side, or to the island. The third route will necessitate the removal of part of the bridge railing and the grading of the ground at that point.

Work of surveying the ground along the proposed site was being carried on Monday. The land at that point is under water every year when the spring rains come and strong reinforcements will be necessary. It will be a simple matter to furnish water for the swimming pool, however. The water is to be taken directly from the river and run into the pool from filtering tanks.

Kaukauna.—A second class boy scout council has been formed in the city and application for a charter has been made. At the organization of the council some time ago the following officers were elected: Frank M. Charlesworth, Jr., president; Leo G. Schussman, first vice president; Ves Berens, second vice president; H. P. Buck, third vice president; George Dogot, secretary; Hugo Wolfenbach, treasurer; W. P. Ashe, scout commissioner.

Upon the arrival of the charter a general meeting is to be held at which further plans will be made. The men are hopeful of developing eight or more troops. Meeting places will be in schools and public buildings nearest the homes of members of each troop.
